FR. Churchill in Quebec for Tenth Strategy Parley

QUYBEC, Sept. 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill met again today for the eighth of a series of parleys on the progress of the war and ready to start drafting new plans for the final and complete defeat of Germany and Japan.

"Victory is everywhere," Churchill said to the President as they met for their 10th wartime conference.

The two leaders arrived within an hour of each other on separate trains. Churchill came from Halifax where he arrived yesterday by ship and Mr. Roosevelt came from Washington.

They met at the little Wolfe's Cove station on the banks of the St. Lawrence. Churchill and the President chatted for a moment about the war while posing for photographers.

After exchanging a few words, Churchill said the meeting was continuing all day, and that he had nothing to say about the progress of the war.

Churchill walked across four railroad tracks and waited for the President to arrive.

374 More Planes Hacked From Dwindling Luftwaffe by U.S.

LONDON, Sept. 11 (AP)—American fighters escorting 1,000 heavy bombers attacking Nazi oil plants in Germany today shot down 374 enemy planes in the heaviest aerial battle over the Reich since the war began.

Only yesterday, the American fighters destroyed 125 German planes and 119 were caught on the ground in western Germany.

It was the fourth consecutive day that more than 1,000 American bombers have attacked Germany.

The continental planes were escorted by 1,000 fighters from the U. S. Army Air Corps.

American losses were not immediately tabulated. A spokesman of the U. S. Army Air Corps said that 120 planes were lost.

Approximately 80 Mustangs, Thunderbolts and Lightnings formed the escort and 200 fighters were also in the air.

Allies Battle Way From Southern France to Join Units of Patton's Force

WITH U. S. THIRD ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 11 (AP)—The third U. S. army made contact with elements of the seventh U. S. army in the vicinity of Somerion, it was announced today. Somerion is 15 miles west of Dijon.

LONDON, Sept. 11 (AP)—The U. S. first army fought its way into the first barrage zones and minefields of the dragon-toothed Siegfried line today and British armor broke into Holland at a point 14 miles north of the ruptured Albert canal defenses in a sweep toward the north end of the Germans' fortification belt.

The American were less than 10 miles from the German frontier at two points 70 miles apart. They captured Luxembourg, the capital of the pocket duchy bordering the Rhine and Saarland, in one thrust and reportedly threw shells into Aachen, German border city, in the other forward movement.

The biggest air fight since the invasion swirled over the Rhine valley today. American bombers smashed at rear emplacements blocking the ground assault and at oil refineries feeding power into German resistance.

From Nancy and Metz—Patton's sector—north through Luxembourg to Limburg, just below the Netherlands appendix where Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' first army gunners shelled German soil for the first time, the Americans were running into the outer defenses of the Siegfried line.

They were under the fire of German heavy guns along the Moselle. Around Limburg, beyond the captured fortress city of Liege, they were encountering the heaviest minefields since they cracked through Germany.

Here the Americans were only 4 1/2 miles from the border and were reported to have taken the town of Aachen, big troop concentration point just two miles over the Siegfried line.

During the same period, the continued successful prosecution of the war against Japan was reported, according to present estimates, that the navy continue to expand.

Forrestal said that an average of 1,000 ships a day for a total of 400 vessels were added to the U. S. fleet during the year.

Foe Abandons Krosno In Face of Red Push

LONDON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Berlin said today that German troops had evacuated Krosno, fortress city in southern Poland guarding the way to Germany and Czechoslovakia, in the area of which the Nazis said Saturday the Russians had broken through a powerful defensive belt.

German acknowledgment of the loss of Krosno, 81 miles from the Polish border, came as the red army drove deep into the mountain passes covering the Hungarian plains from the east and south in an effort to knock out Germany's last remaining satellite.

British troops are driving through Holland, dispatches reported today, toward the borders of Germany while Gen. George S. Patton's third army is poised at the Moselle river for a thrust into the rich grape Arona country. Patton's 100,000-man Sixth Army is shown by the top arrows, while lower arrows show American advances from the south of France toward the combined German and Italian defenses.

More than 100 miles to the north, a second Russian column pushed across the Carpathians from Bucharest to the Danube, making a railroad town of Vama and moved on to within less than 25 miles of the German border.

The Soviet commander gave no details of the advance, but said along the front, but enemy and allied reports indicated that far-flung red units were in the main line of the way from the borders of East Prussia to the Black sea in full of crisis.

Enemy radios said attacks on Palau and Yap swelled to 1,000 planes in the air last Thursday, with 350 reported to the attack yesterday (Tokyo time).

Brill reported that, Berlin reported, 300 aircraft sweeping off flatpans landed Mindanao island, southernmost of the Philippines and were set off daily assaults by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's hand-bled troops.

Previous Pacific fleet announcements of concentrated bombing, strafing and rocket attacks for three consecutive days on Yap, while cruiser and destroyer joined navy planes in their second day of attacks on the Philippines.

U. S. Army warships were damaged in the most recent of all Japanese island operations. Significantly, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported that the U. S. Navy had captured two principal communications links.

Palau would be invaluable to the Americans as an advanced naval base for conquest of all Japan. Birthplace of typhoons, would be the ideal spot to forecast Philippine invasion weather.

China-based strikes yesterday and today were directed at Formosa, the Japanese Islands and the Philippines.

The application was accomplished in a booklet issued by the San Jose district court. The "Positive Pacific Coast" is a booklet issued by the San Jose district court.

TAYLOR PLEDGED

TO ASK U. S. AID

BOISE, Sept. 11 (UP)—Glen H. Taylor, Portocello, Democratic candidate for the U. S. senate, today continued his "federal air" controversy with the Republican opponent, Gov. A. Bottolone, and reiterated that he would oppose any bill which would aid all federal funds.

"I see that my opponent," said Taylor, "qualified his previous statement that he was opposed to not accepting any federal funds whatsoever, by saying he would accept some federal aid for irrigation and roads."

"But he opposed to social security? Would he discontinue the farm security program? How about poor people credit? And the federal loan program?"

Taylor said he would seek federal aid for adequate work control programs.

The Life of EISENHOWER

First Biography of America's Great General
Copyright, 1944, Am. Woodward Miller's Distributed, NEA Service, Inc.

HE'S INVASION TEAM
Meet Ike's "Invasion Team" as it directed the liberation of Europe by air-sea-land.
General Dwight D. Eisenhower, deputy commander in chief under General Eisenhower, is a 54-year-old, described as "tough and soft-spoken." Son of a nobleman, he is in direct contrast to Ike. He was a professional football player for a time played professional football. He was a member of the United States Olympic team in 1920. He was a member of the United States Olympic team in 1920. He was a member of the United States Olympic team in 1920.

The heroism, strong features and gentle mind of 61-year-old Admiral Sir Bertram H. Ramsay, commanding the command naval forces under General Eisenhower. Son of a general, married to a general's daughter, his life has been devoted to the same since he was 15 years old. The formation of the invasion team upon him in transport safety across the English channel. He was the first to see the invasion. He was the first to see the invasion. He was the first to see the invasion.

When Eisenhower made his landing in North Africa, it was Ramsay who helped plan the landings and was in command of the great armada of warships. He also was with Eisenhower in the Mediterranean when Sicily and Italy were invaded. Since the stern, strong face and determination of Eisenhower, Ramsay, commanding the American strategic air force on the western European invasion, born in Pennsylvania 52 years ago, he was at West Point with Eisenhower, graduating in 1914, one year before Ike. The "Toey" commanded the northernmost American force under Eisenhower.

His job is to cover the allied forces on the invasion. The great, smiling commander was now back upon a "dreaded wings" Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, age 48, born in California, in command of the United States eighth air force. The first to raid Tokyo, he earned world fame. He was widely known as a racing pilot and stunt flier before he entered the war, also as an aviator and engineer. With the outbreak of World War II, he entered the struggle as a major and in two years became a brigadier general. Under Eisenhower in Africa, he organized and led the 13th air force, whose exploits are almost legendary. They blazed the way for the ground forces with their raids on Tunisia, Sicily, Italy and were the first to bomb Rome.

Now meet the man who says, "I'm from Missouri, show me!" Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, 51 years old, leading the American ground forces under Eisenhower. This "Missouri mule" is determination is one of Ike's old friends and classmates at West Point. An accomplished marksman of ground warfare and infantry tactics, he was Eisenhower's field aide in North Africa and then commander of the American second corps. We need no introduction to the wiry little man, wearing a beret and a "M" on his head. He is "Monty," Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, loved by every man who ever fought under him. He commands the British invasion armies under Eisenhower. "Monty of El Alamein" is 50 years old, a minister of state. His military fame was established when, in the confusion of the British eighth army, he outfoxed Rommel and chased him with his Afrika Korps across the North African desert, 1,400 miles from Tripoli to Tunis.

The executive of a great corporation, the banker-business man-lawyer type, Sir Trafford L. Leigh-Mallory, 55 years old, commander in chief of the allied air forces. He says the study of law to join and help build the British air force and won his way to an chief staff job. The ceaseless air invasions over Europe, preceding the land invasion, were directed by Sir Trafford. The last man we meet on Eisenhower's "invasion team" is a typical Dutchman in appearance, but Arthur T. Harris, 52 years old, father of four children, and known as "Bomber" Harris. He commands the British strategic air force. While he serves under an Chief Marshal Leigh-Mallory, as does General Spaatz, his job is the destruction of Hitler's war-production centers. The bombing raids under Harris testify to his ability. As hours and days passed, with endless bombing raids to a crescendo in its twilight night, the invasion forces were poised. Their anti-aircraft were ordered to the British coast and stood behind the anti-aircraft, waiting for Eisenhower. The people of France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Norway and their underground armies ready for uprising, counted the hours, waiting for liberation. Zero hour was approaching. "It is now about five minutes to 12," "clocks" the movement came from allied headquarters. General Eisenhower inspected his headquarters and issued the final word. Bug Bill: $40,000,000

Disease-carrying insects—mosquitoes, fleas, lice, ticks—have killed or disabled more American fighting men than many a hard-fought battle.

But today, men in the tropical theaters especially are better protected against these killers than ever before—thanks to amazing new discoveries like DDT.

Spray DDT on a screen—and a fly that walks on that screen three months later dies.

Or take "Aerosol"—a new way of releasing pyrethrum in a gas. One small drop of pyrethrum, when released by means of an aerosol, will kill every "skeeter" in a room 12 x 12 x 7 in one minute!

Now the DDT and aerosols are some of the thousand and one things—in addition to the obvious items like guns, tanks, planes, and ships—that are needed to fight the world's biggest and toughest war, and which make this war so terrifically expensive.

They're going to spend part of your War Bond money this year for DDT—and other insect killers—some $40,000,000.

That money will save American lives and help shorten the war. It would be a darn good investment even if we never got a cent of it back. But we will get it back—and get more money with it.

Under those circumstances, War Bonds have a mighty strong claim on every dollar you don't have to spend for actual necessities.

Maybe you could find enough of those dollars to buy an extra Bond—today.
